

Bogyman of TV Is Put to Work

Boston Library Keeps Progressive

BOSTON, July 31.—(AP)—Boston public library authorities are using television, widely publicized enemy of the written word, to build up reading habits in the younger generation.

The library is not putting on any TV programs of its own. It uses existing TV programs to stimulate reading by some people.

In the main library and in each of its 30 branches this summer, TV is the theme of summer reading clubs which include members aged from six to 16.

Summer reading clubs, themselves, aren't new. They were established by the library in the early 30's to maintain the habit of reading among children when summer vacation began. Also, they seemed a good means for keeping the youngsters out of mischief.

Whenever and wherever possible, summer reading club groups are taken outdoors, and entertained with story-hours, informal talks, any plays in which group members participate as actors. Groups range in size from 40 to 160.

Sometimes participants take turns in telling a story. While the narrative progresses, other group members illustrate the story with fingerpainting.

Reading Club Hikes

Reading club members go on hikes in history-drenched downtown Boston; they visit the great fish pier and they go to Faneuil Hall. They take nature walks. They make trips to collect wildflowers.

"Every activity," explains Library Spokesman Elizabeth Boudreau, "is channelled toward stimulation of more reading."

At the summer's end, certificates are awarded to club members who have read a specified number of books. Last summer, one enthusiast at the Readville branch library set up a reading record of 250 books.

This year, TV has been part of the bait that lured more than 3,500 children or teen-agers into these clubs.

The library began by taking polls in all districts to determine the children's favorite TV programs. Then reading lists were prepared which link closely with the top-preference programs.

The reading list cover is shaped like a TV set and it is titled, "On Your Book Channel." Every child in every branch and in the young people's section of the main library got a list.

"They'll be distributed in schools this fall," says Miss Boudreau.

Favorite Programs

For followers of a favorite puppet program there are: "The Little Wooden Doll," "How to Make Dolls and Doll Houses," "Pinocchio," and "Tony Sarg's Marionette Book" among others.

For circus program fans the library came up with books such as these: "John and Jennifer at the Circus," "Pennywink Carnival," "The Story of Christina," and "Bambino the Clown."

Pushed to the front on library shelves for cowboy program devotees are "Roundup at Bar-C Ranch," "Wild Palominos," "Cowboy Joe of the Circle S," and many others of western flavor.

For TV viewers who like programs of historical romance or make-believe the library offers such books as "Knights of Florence," "Little Heroes of Hartford," "The Sign of the Golden Anchor," and "Washington Adventures."

Many children are fond of programs in which scientists tell about wild creatures.

For these video fans nature books of all types are listed.

Then there's a hit parade of perennial favorites like "The Wizard of Oz," and "The House at Pooch Corner."

Each branch library has evolved. At one, an "applause meter" records the children's book-reading scores. At another, a group studying script writing is preparing to present a play. Another has weekly programs patterned after TV shows. Library books are drawn upon for suggestions.

Sagging Farm Price

port rate of 11.5 cents. Barley is selling at around $1.15 a bushel compared with the support rate of $1.11.

Only relatively few farm products have claimed above minimum price ceiling levels since price control authority was set up last year. They include beef cattle, veal calves, sheep, lambs, cotton, wool, rice and soy beans. Rice and soy beans have dropped below those levels.

Cattle Outlook Uncertain
Beef cattle are selling at ceiling prices now, but agricultural officials believe the price will drop below those levels in the fall when marketing of cattle and hogs normally increase.

Favorable crop prospects coupled with the possibility of peace in Korea are major factors in recent declines in farm prices, officials said. Those prices, as a whole, have dropped six percent from a record set last February.

Soil Conservation

where the women's program will be presented blossomed up Monday in a grove of trees on the Alpha Farms.

Some of the concessionaires started "setting up shop" Monday, although several arrived Sunday and put up their tents.

There was a report, strictly unofficial, that there would be seven planes made available to take Field Day visitors on air tours of the Alpha Farms.

Bring Out Thermos Jugs

Leo Fisher, chairman of the Field Day, again advised visitors to bring their thermos jugs of water with them. He said there would be no large supply of water available at the Field Day headquarters. There will be plenty of soft drinks and home cooked food, however.

For those here planning to visit the Field Day, they were advised to drive out the CCC Highway and turn right on the Cook Station Road (located some distance beyond Madison Mills) and follow the Cook Station Road for about a mile and a half.

A large parking area has been set aside in a field near the Field Day headquarters.

1,200-acre Outdoor Show

More than 1,200 acres of the 2,000-acre Alpha Farms has been set aside for the Field Day conservation and plowing matches. Reports continue to persist that the Fayette County Field Day will surpass the state conservation field day to be held in Morgan County.

Some six months of planning and work, including the laying out of the field demonstrations, has gone into preparations for the event.

First place in the Fayette County plowing match, being held Tuesday, will receive $25 and a trophy. There are both level and contour plowing champions.

The first place winners of the district plowing matches will receive $50 each. There are cash prizes for other place winners too.

Reds 'Purge' 28 More

HONG KONG, July 31.—(AP)—Reports from Red China said today Communist purge squads in Shanghai shot 28 more persons last Thursday.

This brought to at least 288 the known number of persons executed in Shanghai this month on charges of being counter-revolutionaries.

Controls Extension

a compromise version of separate measures approved earlier by the two branches.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle reportedly has told Mr. Truman it appears he has no choice but to sign the bill—that letting controls lapse would cause chaos in the defence production program and perhaps send prices soaring.

A government official who asked not to be named said, however, DiSalle had urged Mr. Truman to recommend Congress revise the legislation as soon as possible by:

1. Scrapping the ban on livestock slaughter quotas. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) says quotas are necessary to block meat black markets. Foes of the program contend the program encourages black markets.

Bills already have been introduced in the Senate and the House to eliminate the quotas ban. 2. Drastically overhauling a provision which permits price rollbacks on non-farm commodities to pre-Korea levels plus cost increases which had been incurred up to last Thursday.

Price Increases Likely

Congress members who drafted that provision have said it will result in some price increases where cost hikes justified them.

The bill Congress passed relaxes consumer credit controls—another step the administration opposed. On new and used automobiles for example, the down payment would remain at one-third of the purchase price but the balance could be paid in 18 months instead of 15 as at present. The down payment for radios, television sets and other household appliances would be 15 per cent with at least 18 months to pay. That compares with 25 per cent and 15 months now.

Another provision authorizes the trade-in value of household appliances to be counted as part of the down payment. Under the present program of the Federal Reserve Board the trade-in value is supposed to apply only in the case of automobiles.

Rent control provisions in the new bill permit rent increases of up to 20 per cent over June, 1947, levels in areas now under control. Increases granted since then would have to be deducted from the 20 per cent.

The Senate Banking Committee has estimated that most new rent increases will average five to seven per cent because hikes have been granted for many dwellings during the last four years.

The bill also permits rent rollbacks to levels which prevailed just before the Korean war started, in newly designated critical defense areas where a shortage of housing has resulted from defense production activities or military installations.

During 1950, the total U. S. reserves of oil climbed from 23.586 billion barrels to 29.952 billion barrels, an increase during the year of 1.366 billion barrels.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—In our office there's a long blackboard on the wall and every day it's covered with that day's pictures of people in the news, fastened tight with thumbtacks.

Looking at those faces, and the little explanatory note beneath them, is like looking at a catalogue of American life which includes the good, the shrewd and the brave; the no-good, the naive, and the knave.

Our photographers take them. They go everywhere in Washington, true historians, recording how we are from day to day, freezing on strips of film in an instant and forever the meaning and emotion of a face.

Those faces on the board, bright and dreary, cruel and kind, should give anyone an insight into mankind if he suffers from the illusion that all men are good or all men bad.

That blackboard might have strengthened Herman Melville, brooding over Moby Dick, in his belief that in every man there is forever a struggle between good and evil and that when the good triumphs in any one man it is always a triumph for all mankind.

There are the facts of the soldiers from Korea, trim with crew haircuts, receiving the congressional medal of honor at the White House for heroism above and beyond their years.

Faces of statesmen look down from the board: cold, cynical, warm, haughty, a little remote maybe from the common run of mankind, but all seeking a road to survival and some showing strain from the attacks made on their ability and their intentions.

Their critics are there, too, their faces tense from their own oratory, some of them responsible, some irresponsible, some sincere, and some whose sincerity has been deeply questioned.

The clean-shaven faces of generals and admirals, carrying on the nation's business in the earth's far ends, peer out sturdily from the glossy prints, almost cheek to cheek with the latest beauty queen in the picture next door.

There's a picture of Mr. Bumble, for there's always a Mr. Bumble, and of a professor, a doctor, a lawyer, and of the character who refused to answer questions, squinting through lenses so thick his eyes seem small as squirrels' eyes, looking for a bush to hide in.

There's the grotesque little swindler and right beside him are his victims looking hurt but suddenly self-righteous, now that they're condemning him, although perhaps he had pumped their money into him to bribe officials, never seeming to think there was anything wrong with that, or very wrong, believing "everybody's doing it," an easy way to solve a conscience.

There's plenty of larceny in some of those faces on the board. And worse. There are gangsters and crooked cops and sheriffs, facing a crime quiz.

It's startling to see how fierce their eyes can be and how hatred and passion puff their necks and

Alertness Is Urged in Korea

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 31—(AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today ordered Allied troops to "maintain constant vigilance" against a possible Red assault while cease-fire talks are going on at Kaesong.

The Eighth Army commander told his soldiers in a statement: "Everyone is hopeful that the conferences will come to a successful and honorable end so that peace may be restored. No one is more conscious of peace than the soldier."

But he added: "However, in spite of our hopes, every man must be alert at all times. We must not and will not permit this great United Nations army to become a victim of a Communist ambush."

The general addressed his statement to "members of the Eighth Army, attached United Nations forces and Republic of Korea Army."

Homecoming Set for Sedalia

Residents of the Sedalia community are getting all set for the annual fish fry and homecoming to be held by the WSCS of the Methodist Church.

Fish sandwiches will be sold all day long, but one of the highlights of the day will be a parade scheduled for 4 P. M. with four 4-H Clubs to have floats and pets to march in it.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners of a bicycle decoration contest and a competition for the best dressed cowgirl and cowboy. A pet parade has also been booked.

Johnny Godfrey will entertain in the Sedalia High School auditorium at 8:15 P. M. Friday, along with some dancing students from London.

In the food line, roast beef will be served at noon and roast chicken at 5:30 o'clock Friday night. Proceeds of the fish fry and homecoming events will go to the church.

We Are Not Buying Much Civilization

Many years ago, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said he found pleasure in paying his taxes. "With this I buy civilization," he observed.

We live in a very different kind of age today. Less and less of our tax money goes to buy those goods and services which make for true civilization. More and more of it goes to buy implements of war, old and new, which, if ever unleashed in their full fury, may very well destroy civilization itself. Much also goes for larger government organizations and administration expense.

In the world of the present heavy defense spending, this is an unavoidable tragedy. But that tragedy is needlessly compounded by the ever-increasing spending of the people's money for purposes and projects which have no bearing on the national defense and security, which are unnecessary and avoidable, which weaken our institutions and undermine our liberties, and which, finally, tend to destroy our savings by creating more inflation and cheaper dollars.

The leaders of our government tell us that we must pay more taxes in the name of national survival—that all must "sacrifice". But—save for a handful of honorable exceptions to a sorry rule—none of them say that the government too must "sacrifice", by eliminating every expenditure which is not clearly and directly essential. They tell us that the "business as usual" philosophy must be abandoned. But what about the infinitely more dangerous "politics as usual" philosophy?

During this new fiscal year, federal, state and local spending will account for about one-third of the national income. And still the staggering waste goes on.

We'll Pay the Bill

All signs indicate that Franco, Spain and the west are going to snuggle up together for what is hoped will be mutual advantages. Spain is avid for American economic and military aid. The North Atlantic Alliance wants Spanish military bases to strengthen defenses against Communism.

Whether a Spanish army will be formed to fight alongside the other countries of western Europe must be revealed by events.

The west has been balking at the totalitarian makeup of the Spanish government and its tyrannical practices. Franco's preference for Hitler and Mussolini in World War II can be forgotten in the face of the Russian threat, but the west wants some guarantees that it will not be building up a new despotic power.

Christus of the Black Hills

By Hal Boyle

SPEARFISH, S. D. (P)—If you were an actor, would you want to play the role of Jesus Christ?

Many actors don't. They feel it is too exacting.

Josef Meier, producers of the Black Hills Passion play, has probably portrayed the Christus more often than any man in history. In nearly 25 years he has acted out the agency of Christ more than 5,000 times before a total audience of more than 10,000,000 people.

For seven generations member of the Meier family played the role in the Passion play at Luenen, Germany, handing it down from father to son. Now at 48 he is preparing to relinquish it to a member of the eighth generation—his nephew, Heinrich, 20.

"I have no sons," said Meier, "so I am preparing my nephew to carry on our family tradition."

But the role is so arduous that it will probably take four years before Heinrich, who now shouts in the mob scene, will be ready to step into the great title.

Meier brought the cast of the Luenen Passion play to the United States in 1932 and determined to remain.

"You could see even then the way Germany was going politically," he said. "And I thought a man ought to be free in his work—ing, thinking and dreaming." His goal after becoming an American citizen was to find a natural amphitheater where he could give the Passion play an outdoor summer setting. He discovered it here in the Black Hills in 1938.

"This was the closest I ever found to what my boyhood dream of America was," he said. "It is an ideal natural surrounding in which to tell the story of Christ." Since then he has built a $250,000 open air theater here with a permanent stage 780 feet long. It is three times the length of the stage used in the famous Oberammergau Passion play.

Some 150,000 spectators from all parts of the country view the spectacle each summer. The organization gives 30 performances during the short season at its headquarters here, and about 250 more during its long winter tours across America. It has played in every state.

The people of the Black Hills have taken the Passion play festival to their hearts. Meier has a cast of only 38 but sometimes there are as many as 200 on the huge stage. The rest are native residents who volunteer their acting services for nothing. On any night Christ's disciples in "The Last Supper" scene may include a cattle raiser, a utilities executive, a ranch hired hand, and a clothing store owner.

"Sometimes the volunteers come in groups of 30 or 40 from towns 100 to 120 miles away," said Meier. "One family of 11 comes regularly. It is this community cooperation that enables us to put the show on in such a scale."

His wife, Clare, plays the part of Mary. And this season his 13-year-old daughter, Johanna, entered the case as Salome, dancer in the court of King Herod.

"I was rather reluctant to let her in," he said, smiling, "but she argued that Salome was a young girl, too."

Meier himself was carried on stage in his first Passion play at the age of 10 weeks.

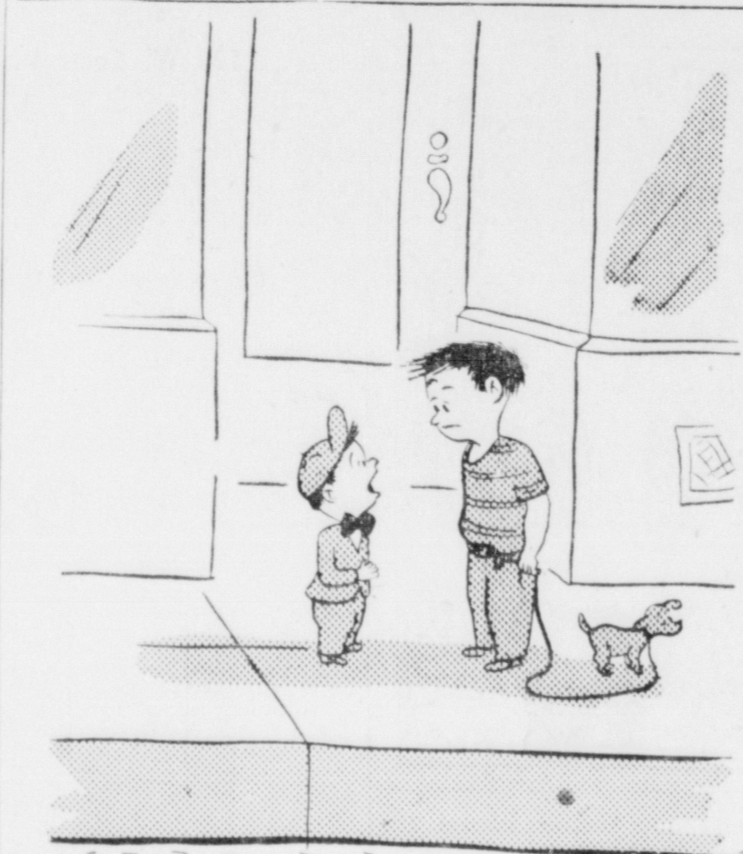

Eventually he plans to found a cultural arts school here on a 28-acre campus. It will have as its motto his own lifelong motto: "The joy of life lies in the world of today and in the plans for the work of tomorrow."

Playing the profoundly moving role of the Christus has had a profound effect on his own outlook.

"I have learned that if you apply his principles your own troubles will disappear and you will find the strength you need," Meier said.

"Some people have difficulty separating the man from the role. 'Once, many years ago,' he said, 'a request was actually made after a performance for me to lay my hands on a blind child.' The startled actor declined, feeling that to fulfill the request would be a sacrilege. In this youth Meier grew a beard and wore his hair long. 'I gave that up,' he said. 'Too many strangers stopped me to ask if I belonged to the House of David.'"

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Inflammation of the valves and lining membranes of the heart is known as endocarditis. This condition is most likely to occur in those with previously damaged hearts. Thus, it is most often seen in people suffering from some form of heart disease, particularly rheumatic heart disease. It has recently been found that individuals over 50 are also subject to endocarditis.

Until recently, there was no cure for this condition. Within the last ten years, however, penicillin and the newer antibiotics have made it possible not only to control it, but to prevent it in many instances.

Today we realize that infection occurring anywhere in the body may cause endocarditis in a susceptible person, particularly where it is necessary to operate in the presence of such an infection. Thus, even such a minor procedure as the extraction of a tooth may cause infection to spread to the heart valves via the blood stream.

In 32 cases of infections endocarditis occurring in people of all ages, approximately seven of them occurred after an operation, injury, or an infection elsewhere in the body. Many of the infections could have been prevented if penicillin had been used as a preventive when the surgery, injury or other illness occurred.

Therefore, adults and children who have had rheumatic fever or congenital heart disease, or those persons past the age of 50 who show some type of heart disease, should be given penicillin before any surgery or dental extraction is carried out, no matter how minor the operation. It is believed by many authorities that the dosage should be repeated immediately after operation, and also about 12 to 18 hours following the operation.

Many argue that allergic reactions may occur due to the indiscriminate use of penicillin. However, these allergic reactions occur in less than 0.2 per cent of the cases. With the chance of developing endocarditis so great the objections to the use of penicillin in these cases does not seem warranted.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. H.: What causes pemphigus and do foods have any effect on it? What treatment is used?

Answer: Foods have no influence on this condition. Pemphigus is an acute or chronic disease in which crops of blisters suddenly develop on the skin. Usually, there are also such symptoms as fever, and loss of weight and strength.

The cause of acute pemphigus is not known, but in all likelihood it is the result of some infection. The blisters on the skin break open and leave white, tender, and painful areas. The outlook in acute pemphigus is never good.

In treating the disorder there is not a great deal that can be done other than to improve the general health insofar as possible. Tonics may be given. Arsenic preparations have some value. Sometimes the patient is put into continuous baths. Such a disorder should be treated under the direction of the physician.

Many investigations have been made to determine the cause of the difficulty but, as yet, it has not been discovered. This condition is not contagious.

Recently, ACTH has been found to be of some value in treating this condition.

Germany's history dates back to the Franks, Goths, Huns and other invading tribes from central Asia.

Sokolsky phasis on preference for Russia and its Marxian practices.

One of the results of this total subservience to Russian policy and purposes is a general assumption that something is extraordinarily bad about Spain. True, Franco produced a dictatorship, but so did Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini, Kemal Ataturk, Chiang Kai-shek, Pilsudski, and a number of others who were thrown up by war, revolution, civil disturbances and a break-down in Europe of a thousand years of tradition at the end of World War I.

This is no defense of dictatorship. It is rather a statement of an historic trend during an era which is not yet ended. Franklin D. Roosevelt assumed that he could distinguish between a good and a bad dictator, which neither he nor anyone else could do because there are no good dictators. The autocrat, even with the best intentions, becomes a prisoner of his own powers.

Really, it was none of our business to make such distinctions. If the people of any country were willing to tolerate autocracy, that was strictly within their own rights. We Americans prefer a representative republic and take what comes with it.

The Russians hate Franco because he licked them in a fight. The Spaniards are the only Europeans who have shown enough courage to stand up to a proxy Russian force and to drive them out of their country. Most of the other Europeans thought that they could compromise with Stalin and some of them were turned into satellites for their pains.

It is curious that even some intelligent Americans accepted Stalin's propaganda that Stalin was a good dictator and Franco a bad one.

The only difference between these two countries is that Soviet Russia has since 1917 been the enemy of the United States, constantly and consistently. Spain, on the other hand, has desired since 1936 to establish friendly and realistic relations with the United States.

Part of the Communist propaganda against Spain has been to emphasize the anti-semitism of the Franco regime. Yet, during the war, Spain was open to Jewish refugees from Germany while in Soviet Russia, Judaism, as a religion, was suppressed.

(In this connection, I wish to recommend to those who really desire to know something on the subject a new book, "The Jews in the Soviet Union," by Professor Solomon M. Schwarz, published by Syracuse University press. This is an invaluable study of spiritual genocide as practised by Stalin.)

The navy, the air force and nearly all students of the military problems which beset this country as a result of our failure in World War II to win a peace insist that the United States requires bases in Spanish territory. Their argument runs that the Iberian peninsula is our surest gateway to Europe and that should northern Europe be over-run, we shall have to defend ourselves from Spain and North Africa.

The argument in favor of this subject is technical from a military standpoint and is out of my field. It is obvious, however, from past history that the country which dominates the Mediterranean, can dominate Europe. That argument ran throughout World War II and it will be recalled that Churchill wanted the Allies to invade Europe from the Mediterranean, which Stalin and George Marshall opposed. Roosevelt eventually sided with Stalin and Marshall and that is why we lost the peace.

From that experience, we can assume that the expert's desire for bases in Spain is a correct view. The late Admiral Forrest Sherman negotiated such a contract with Franco on a strictly business basis without the romantic elements general in such transactions. That is all to the good, because if we do business with Europeans without romance, we shall get somewhere.

Our task is to do the best we can to save ourselves from more wars and the killing of our sons in futile wars such as we have experienced in Korea. If bases in Spain will help in this direction, a deal with Franco is sound. (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

More A-bomb Tests Looming

WASHINGTON, July 31—(P)—The United States is planning more tests of the atomic bomb, Chairman Gordon Dean of the atomic energy commission said today.

Dean declined to tell a news conference, however, whether the tests would be at already announced proving grounds or at some other place. There has been speculation a new proving ground may be established in the Aleutian Islands off Alaska.

Dean said any first test of a British made atomic bomb on an American proving ground would probably necessitate a change in the United States' atomic energy law.

"Have the British made any overtures about their first atomic test?"

And Dean answered: "If they have they did not make it to us. (The Atomic Energy Commission)."

LOSES 50 LBS. Reducing with Rennel

Mrs. C. A. Gravier, 2028 Broadstone, Toledo, Ohio, writes: "I heard about Rennel through a friend and decided to try it. After using 2 bottles I weighed myself and found that I had lost 10 lbs. Now I have taken Rennel for 3 months and my weight has decreased from 220 lbs. to 170 lbs. I look better and feel better. Nicest of all I did not have to starve myself to lose weight."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain liquid Rennel at your druggist, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel.

LENDING A HAND to the mile track at Illinois State fairgrounds in Springfield is Nance Dietrich, "Miss Springfield of 1951," in preparation for State Fair, Aug. 10-19. Track will be scene of Grand Circuit, auto and motorcycle races. (International)

Young 4-H's Get Started On 1952 Livestock Exhibits

LUCINDA SCHLACHTER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Schlachter, stands beside her grand champion Hereford steer, which topped entries in the Fayette County Fair this year. (Record-Herald photo)

With the 4-H Club livestock sale by the boards, young people of the county were preparing for the 1952 sale, when they hope they will get inside the charmed inner circle of champions.

This year Lucinda Schlachter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Schlachter, emerged with the top honors in the 4-H show by having the grand champion of the 4-H livestock exhibit.

Her winning entry was a Hereford calf.

The Albers Supermarket purchased the champ, weighing 990 pounds, for $65 a hundred, or a total of $643.50.

Incidentally, Albers Supermarket bought three other calves, spending a total of $1,822.35 for 4-H livestock.

Other big buyers were Heifrich's Supermarket, Kroger's Supermarket and the Frozen Food Lockers.

The reserve champion among the select entry list of 38 steers judged in the Fair competition was a 1,120-pound Aberdeen Angus entered by Max Schlachter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schlachter.

It brought $43 a hundred and was purchased by the Heifrich Supermarket for $481.60.

Placings Are Listed

Final reports on the sale indicate that the 38 steers sold by the 4-H's brought a total of $14,223.95 when sold. Their total weight was 35,185 pounds and the average weight was 925.9 pounds. The average price was $40.42.

Scot Swims Channel In Both Directions

DOVER, Eng., July 31—(AP)—A 54-year-old Scotsman is the fourth man in history to swim the English Channel in both directions.

Ned Barnie, an Edinburgh science teacher, made it the hard way by swimming from England to France. Tides and prevailing winds make this more difficult than the France-to-England swim which Barnie accomplished last year. The distance is approximately 21 miles and took Barnie 19 hours and two minutes.

Barnie was the third swimmer to make the channel crossing during the weekend.

Philip Mickman, 20, also tied for the double but gave up eight miles off the French coast because of heavy seas. He made the France to England crossing two years ago.

An Englishman and an Egyptian both made the swim from France to England Saturday. They were Philip Rising, 41, and Abdel Lutf Abou Heif, 22, an Egyptian student.

Six other men and two women failed.

American Girl Lands In Prison in Milan

MILAN, Italy, July 31—(AP)—A 20-year-old American girl who came to Italy hoping to marry a Roman Catholic priest is in police custody "for reasons of public security," an official of Milan's San Vittore jail said today.

The girl, tall blonde Claire Mary Gertrude Young of Chicago, figured in the news several weeks ago when her mother came here in an effort to break up the romance with former missionary Muciana Negrini.

The jail official said Miss Young, daughter of a professor at Loyola University, Chicago, was taken into custody Saturday, on orders from police headquarters.

The jail official said he did not know "the exact motive" for the police action.

A nationwide program of summer fuel buying is an essential phase of the defense effort, he declared.

The conference was called by Governor Lausche at the request of the interior department.

Interior Secretary Chapman has suggested Governor Lausche appoint a staff member to coordinate a program of summer fuel buying by state and municipal agencies.

Reds Break Jinx In Beating Phils

Unbelievable Boner Pulled by DiMaggio

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)

Who says they don't come back? That's exactly what the Cincinnati Reds did last night -- and a suddenly cheery crowd at Crosley Field crowded, "it's about time!"

Until last night's 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, the Reds had lost seven straight and seemed bent on keeping up the bad work until they landed in the National League cellar.

Ewell Blackwell started for Cincinnati -- but he didn't survive the second as he gave up three walks and three hits. Two Redleg errors, one by Roy McMillan and the other by Bob Usher, didn't help the situation.

Redleg relievers kept the Philadelphia at bay after that and a suddenly revitalized Cincinnati team doggedly began chopping away at the Phils' 5-0 cushion.

They got to Ken Johnson for two runs in the fifth after the left-hander had kept them whitewashed on two hits the first four rounds. Usher singled and came home on Dixie Howell's two-bagger past third. Howell got to third on Bob Adams' single and scored run No. 2 on a passed ball.

The Reds scored two more runs in the next inning on a walk to Ted Kluszewski and a home run by Usher.

Johnson was relieved in the seventh after Adams drove a triple to left center with one down. Andy Hansen got Connie Ryan to bounce out, but Johnny Wyrostek came in to pinch hit for Danny Litwiler and cracked a run-producing single to tie up the contest.

Cincinnati pulled the fat out of the fire in the ninth. With Jim Konstanty pitching, reliever Frank Smith filed out, but Adams singled to right. Connie Ryan then knocked a three-base hit to tie the score-board for the sixth and winning Cincinnati tally.

HOW DOES A GUY who has been labelled "the perfect player" feel after pulling his first "rock" in a long and brilliant baseball career?

"Foolish," admitted Joe DiMaggio, the great outfield star of the New York Yankees.

For the first time since he came up to N. Y. in 1936, DiMaggio felt like digging a huge hole in Yankee Stadium and diving into it. The flawless flycatcher, recognized for his ability to do the right thing at the right time, really pulled a dilly last night before 39,684 unbelieving spectators.

Fortunately for him, the Yankees came on to win -- beating the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 -- to minimize DiMaggio's mental lapse. The victory increased the Yanks' first-place margin to 2½ games over the idle Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox. It was New York's 33rd victory in 43 home games.

This is the sequence of events that led to DiMaggio's "rock." The score was tied 2-2 when the Tigers came to bat in the eighth. Doubles by Gerry Priddy and George Kell with one out put the Tigers in front, 3-2. Steve Souchock, an ex-Yankee, flied deep to DiMaggio. Kell tagged up and headed for third.

DiMaggio made no attempt to head him off. Instead, he calmly began to jog toward the Yankee dugout with the ball in his right hand. Dick Bartell, alert Tiger third base coach, took in the situation at a glance and waved Kell plateward. Joe finally understood why his mates were yelling at and waving to him. But by then it was too late. Kell had scored the second run of the inning.

"I thought it was the third out," explained the embarrassed Yankee Clipper later.

AS LUCK WOULD have it -- and luck is the word for it -- it was DiMaggio's ninth-inning hit that drove in the winning run for the Yankees. With runners on first and second and two out, Joe started to swing at a pitch by Virgil Trucks, then tried to check it, and accidentally blooped a single to right. That brought in Joe Collins with the winning run.

While the American League's activity was limited to one game, every team but Brooklyn and Pittsburgh was active in the National. Even without playing, the pace-setting Dodgers saw their lead increased.

An eighth-inning double by Roy Smalley drove in the tying and winning runs as the Chicago Cubs nipped the New York Giants, 7-6, in the only game played in day-light.

A two-run eighth inning rally, climaxed by Del Rice's double,

Golf Championship Tourney Is Coming Up at Country Club; Four Flights Being Set Up

With the annual handicap golf tournament now in the closing stages, the pairings are now in the process of being set up for the annual tournament to determine the Country Club champion and the champions of the four flights.

Tony Capuana, the club pro, has arranged the matches for the four flights, but he has not quite completed those for the championship.

The first matches are scheduled to be played within a week. Rules for the tourney call for using the white tees for the first nine holes and the red tees for the second round.

In the battle for the championship will be matched the top 14 golfers of the club. At least two "byes" are in prospect for the first round. Capuana said he expected to have the matches set up "within a few days".

Grouped together in the four flight matches are golfers of similar ability, as indicated by their handicaps.

Trophies are to be awarded to

Fruit Dealer Accused As Cage Fixer

NEW YORK, July 31--(AP)--A 33-year-old Brooklyn fruit dealer has been accused by the district attorney's office of attempting to fix the NCAA championship basketball game between CCNY and Bradley March 28, 1950.

James O'Leary, secretary to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, said today that Jack Rubinstein was one of a group, who offered Gene Melchiorre, Bradley's All-America cage star, $10,000 if he would throw the title game with CCNY.

Melchiorre has said he refused to accept the bribe. City College beat Bradley, 71 to 68, at Madison Square Garden.

Hogan's office said that Jack (Zip) West, wanted by police of five states in connection with the fixing of Toledo and Bradley games, was still at large.

Joseph Massa, a freshman at Toledo in 1950, was arraigned as a material witness in general sessions court in connection with the bribery probe. The 20-year-old Brooklyn resident was put into protective custody for 48 hours to furnish $10,000 bail.

The district attorney's office described Rubinstein as an associate of West. Rubinstein was arrested late yesterday afternoon, and formally booked on charges of bribery and conspiracy early today.

gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Boston Braves and boosted the Redbirds into a third-place tie with the Philadelphia Phils.

Phils a 5-0 lead and roared back Cincinnati's Reds spotted the to win 6-5 on a ninth-inning single by Bobby Adams and a triple by Connie Ryan.

George "Snuffy" Stirmweiss, infielder for the Cleveland Indians, stole 73 bases for Newark in the International League in 1942.

Organized Baseball Pay Scale Defended

WASHINGTON, July 31--(AP)--Ford Frick, president of the National League, insisted today that organized baseball has met fully its obligation to the players.

Speaking for both major leagues, Frick added that the average salary they pay is "far above the average American wage for skilled workers on a year-round basis".

The National League boss was scheduled to continue testifying today before a House judiciary subcommittee checking into baseball's position in relation to anti-trust laws.

Earlier yesterday, baseball's immortal Ty Cobb had told the lawmakers that organized baseball's policies on the hole seemed all right, but could be changed some to benefit the player.

The old-time Detroit outfielder's assertion that baseball has to have something on the order of a reserve clause in its contracts won favorable attention from committee members.

Hemsley Asks for Job As Manager of Browns

HARLINGEN, Tex., July 31--(AP)--Rollie Hemsley, minor league's "manager of the year" last season, last night said he had "formally applied" for the job of managing the St. Louis Browns.

Hemsley, a former major league star, is now managing the Texas City Texans in the Class B Gulf Coast League.

Big Marion Motley To Be Replaced as Brown Fullback

BOWLING GREEN, July 31--(AP)--For the time being at least, Emerson Cole has replaced big Marion Motley as the Cleveland Browns' No. 1 fullback.

"This could be the year for Cole to take over and for the first time one of our offensive mainstays of the last five years to fall by the wayside," Paul Brown, coach of the pro-football champions said.

He declared Motley hasn't shown the "same speed and go" he has had in his first three of four years with us and his attitude seems to have changed.

"Cole has looked far superior and I'm rewarding him by calling him the No. 1 fullback."

Cole, 215-pound former University of Toledo star, is starting his second year with the Browns.

Bigball Game Won By Lions from P. O.

Three runs in the next to the last inning gave the Lions a 4 to 2 victory over the Post Office team in the Liniment League at Wilson Field Monday night.

The Lions were trailing, 2 to 1, in the "bigball" game when they staged their game-winning rally.

Each team got seven hits and, in spite of their defeat, the Post Office crew played a little cleaner ball in the field.

Mangrum Under Police Guard After Warning Not To Win Golf Tourney in St. Paul --- He Won It

CHICAGO, July 31--(AP)--With one of the tournament's top stars, Lloyd Mangrum, under police protection after a telephone threat against his life, the first phase of the $75,000 Tam O'Shanter golf jamboree began today.

Qualifying rounds for the women's open and men's amateur divisions for the All-American three-day tourney were scheduled. The leading 18 women scorers plus 10 more exempted players added by Promoter George S. May will qualify.

The All-American Tournament --with men pros and amateurs, and the women competing simultaneously in respective divisions-- is a four-day, 72-hole medal affair beginning Thursday.

The complete pro field will be

Dodger Serenade Set for Season

BROOKLYN, July 31--(AP)--Whether the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National League pennant still is uncertain. But one thing will be certain at Ebbets Field for the rest of the summer: Win or lose, "The Bums" will be serenaded by the "Dodgers Sym-phony" band.

The "Sym-phony" band has been playing at Brooklyn games for 13 years. Their only pay has been free admission, and Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians didn't approve of this. The union threatened to picket Ebbets Field if this practice continued.

The "Sym-phony" band pleaded their case to Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz--and the union finally gave in. It made one stipulation, though: that the "Sym-phony" drop the two men in the seven-member group who have union cards.

Polio Season Is Here Again But Science Seeks Treatment

Science wages unending battle for knowledge to end the necessity of this

By SANFORD MARKEY
Central Press Correspondent

SUMMER'S HOTTEST DAYS mean vacation pleasures for school children, but for their parents there's an additional concern: infantile paralysis or polio.

The peak of the disease is just around the corner, when summer's hottest days prevail. Yet, there's an encouraging note in the prediction that this will not be a severe year, that the number of cases, based on first evidences, will be under the 33,209 cases reported last year and well under the 42,173 recorded during 1949.

Why the hot summer months cause a rise in the incidence rate—the number who contract the disease—is still a medical mystery. Scientists studying the disease say they are not able to account for the spread of polio during the July-August-September period.

The cause for this spread is a major factor in the research program that has been most intensive during the past 12 months, and medical scientists report they have made progress in their fight against the disease.

One of the big developments reported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, an organization supported by the "March of Dimes" contributions, is the determination that there may be only three types of polio virus, thus narrowing the search for a vaccine to cope with the disease.

PREVIOUSLY, scientists believed that there were over 20 different types of polio. Narrowing the field to three types—Brunhilde, Lansing and Leon—follows a three-year search in which hundreds of cases were tested throughout the world. Results of the tests indicated human polio revolved around the three named types.

Now scientists are working on a successful vaccine to protect against all three. Already some progress has been made and some tests have been tried with monkeys. These tests, however, have been reported "not 100 per cent perfect."

Should medical science produce a successful vaccine, then the defect of polio would be virtually assured, almost to the same degree as taking a vaccination against smallpox or against diphtheria.

Doctors believe that the risk of severe polio attacks lessens sharply after a child has reached 11 years of age. And, beyond the age of 20, chances of being stricken by the polio bug are about one in every 100,000. Doctors also believe that the reason adults rarely are stricken is because the vast majority of them have had a mild form of polio and thus gained immunity to the disease without knowing it.

It is also believed that the polio bug is transmitted by "human contact," although contacts by flies, and other insects are also suspect. As yet, however, no one insect has been definitely labeled as the transmitter.

BECAUSE of possible "human contact," and because the incidence of polio is much greater in the hot summer months, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis lists these precautions:

1. Don't get overtired. Don't have mouth or throat operations during polio season. Don't bathe or swim long in cold water, or sit around in wet clothes. Don't use another person's towel, dishes or tableware.
2. Parents should not take children to places where there is polio. Children should not be taken out of camp or playgrounds where a good health supervisor is in charge.
3. Children should be permitted to play with friends they customarily associate with, but should avoid "new contacts."

The Foundation urges parents to "call a doctor as soon as any symptoms arise which might indicate the incidence of polio." These symptoms include headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, sore muscles, stiff neck or back, extreme tiredness and trouble in breathing or swallowing.

Quick action, adds the Foundation, "may lessen complications."

Finally, the Foundation adds: "Don't get panicky. The majority of polio patients recover without serious after-effects."

Russian Effort To Block German Business Evaded

BERLIN, July 31—(AP)—West Berlin has made a modest beginning at flying cargo to west Germany rather than bow to Soviet controls.

Civil airlines have carried a few tons out in the past several days and are scratching around for ways and means to increase the traffic beyond the token airlift stage, U. S. officials said.

The western Allies have encouraged the effort, and may even subsidize the venture financially so west Berlin businessmen can reach their markets without undue expense, the officials added.

High priority for the shipments has been given to cargoes that

Price of Meat Easing a Little

Buyer Resistance
Partly Responsible

(By The Associated Press)
Prices of a few fresh vegetables and fruits advanced in major markets east of Kansas City this week after floods disrupted large shipments of produce from the far west.

But any effect the floods had on meat supplies and prices in distant cities was lost in a widespread slump in demand.

Agriculture Department market specialists reported meat sales were exceptionally slow, even for this time of the year. They blamed hot weather, consumer price resistance, and the beginning of the vacation period which saw many meat customers leaving town for resort areas.

Wholesale prices of beef ribs and loins, and the lower grades of veal and lamb were easing. Scattered reductions also were reported at the retail level, chiefly on the higher-priced cuts of beef, such as rib roasts and porterhouse and sirloin steaks.

Meat Supplies Light

And although supplies of beef, pork and lamb were reported generally light to moderate at the wholesale level, livestock marketings were on the rise following the weeks-long period of below-normal volume touched off by the beef price rollback and imposition of livestock slaughtering quotas.

Chiefly affected by the flood-caused shipping delays were prices of such perishables as western carrots, cantaloupes, pascal celery and lettuce. Some items like cabbage and peppers, which were in oversupply recently because abundant rains in important growing areas hastened them to market, also advanced in price as supplies dwindled. Tomatoes were more plentiful but lively demand pushed prices a little higher.

On the other hand, several summertime fruits declined seasonally: blackberries, blueberries, watermelons, grapefruit, grapes and sweet cherries.

Fish Is Plentiful

The department's Production and Marketing Administration stressed fresh and frozen fish as a most-plentiful food for thrifty buying next week. And General Foods Corp. noted although average meat prices have climbed 7.1 percent since December and dairy products 5.2 percent, its frozen fish prices have held unchanged. Birds Eye frozen ocean perch, in fact, is 4 percent lower than it was in December. Crediting increased efficiency in catching, freezing and distributing the fish, the company said the prices will remain steady for at least two more months.

Then a retired brigadier general of the Soviet army, Barmine said he knew his classmates who had been shot were innocent. He said he submitted his resignation from the Soviet service and from the Communist party, fleeing to Paris.

At the outset of the hearing, Senator O'Connor (D-Md) urged that Owen Lattimore and Lauchlin Currie be called to testify about efforts to obtain a wartime army intelligence commission for Frederick Vanderbilt Field.

Field, millionaire "angel" for left-wing causes, testified last week he had been offered a commission but that it had been blocked outside the army because of a "certain problem" which he refused to discuss.

Police said earlier Claire had falsified her birth date in a document and therefore they refused extension of her residence permit.

The two met while Negrini was soliciting funds for Catholic missions in Chicago.

He said last night the best thing is for the girl to go home and for him to follow her to the U. S. There, he said, they could "decide quietly what to do in the future."

Negrini said his request for secularization (reversion to non-priestly status) had been turned down by church authorities and explained that, as a priest, he "could never marry a young girl."

Few Mosquitoes Reported in City

Reports indicate that so far this season mosquitoes have been fewer in the city than at anytime in recent years.

Belief is expressed that absence of the mosquitoes has been due to spraying alleys and other places with DDT during the past two or three years.

No extensive precautions have been taken to prevent mosquitoes here this year, due to the fact that they have been so few.

Spraying will be done should the insects put in an appearance during the next few weeks, which is not considered likely.

The reports indicate that complaints about mosquitoes are virtually non-existent.
